History

Founded in 1960, Quail Hollow Club was originally designed by George Cobb as an exclusive 18 hole private club. Quail Hollow has positioned itself as one of the top tournament courses in the nation having hosted professional golf for over 30 years. No stranger to renovations, the club's leadership is always looking for ways to improve the course and recently completed Tom Fazio's initial master plan in order to successfully host the 99th PGA Championship.

Internship Program Description

The internship we offer is extensive and well rounded and offers hands on experience of all aspects of golf course maintenance and championship preparation. Everything from equipment operation to course presentation to high level problem solving will be addressed. Also, students will be given leadership opportunities to see the full extent of maintaining a course at championship level. On top of the experience gained from tournament preparation and daily course maintenance, we offer staff training seminars twice a month taught by the Golf Course Superintendent, Assistant Superintendents, and Technicians. These educational meetings cover topics including: Irrigation, SubAir Systems, Budgeting, Calibrations, and Chemicals/Fertilizers Application.
